Shutdown

As everyone else is going through at the moment, we've had to stay home and put our deputation plans on hold. We had two months worth of meetings canceled in the northeast, where the country has been hit hardest. Lord willing, we might be able to reschedule them.

Meetings in March

However, we were still able to have meetings in the first half of March before the shutdown became official, including a missions conference, one meeting, two drop ins, and a local conference. We were very blessed by all of these: some of those churches took us on and we were able to garner new meetings from networking.

Ministry Opportunities

While we were at home from mid March to the whole month of April, we took advantage of some opportunities to stay in the ministry online. My mission board conducted an online virtual missions conference for each of their missionaries on deputation. That really allowed us to present our mission work to many places that we would not have gone to otherwise. During this time, I also had the privilege to preach for some of my sending's

On April 2nd, we got to celebrate Aiden's first birthday! We did it online via zoom with our family. He wasn't really impressed with his first cake, choosing to have a piece of fruit instead. We're very thankful for having him in our lives.

New Support

The biggest blessing we have seen while staying at home was that our support went up from 40% to 50%! This is the most it has gone up in a short period of time. This means that we're halfway there now!

Prayer Requests

- For more continuous support increase.
- For more meetings this summer and winter.
- For safety when we get back on the road.

- Thank you!!!

church livestreams. My wife took up interpreting for a prayer meeting online and this also unexpectedly gave us a few meetings later this year as well. We're praising God for continuing to provide for us, even during this time.
